the mediterranean is an invented cultural space on the frontier between north and south west and east modern art and the idea of the mediterranean examines the representation of this region in the visual arts since the late eighteenth century placing the idea of the mediterranean a cultural construct rather than a physical reality at the centre of our understanding of modern visual culture this collection of essays features an international group of scholars who examine competing visions of the mediterranean in terms of modernity and cultural identity questioning and illuminating both european and non european representations an introductory essay frames the analysis in terms of a new spatial paradigm of the mediterranean as a geographic historical and cultural region that emerged in the late eighteenth century as france and britain colonized the surrounding territories essays are grouped around three vital themes visualization of the space of the new mediterranean varied uses of the classical paradigm and issues of identity and resistance in an age of modernity and colonialism drawing on recent geographical historical cultural and anthropological studies contributors address the visual representation of identity in both the european and the oriental the colonial and post colonial mediterranean today the museum of modern art is widely recognized for establishing the canon of modern art yet in its early years the museum considered modern art part of a still unfolding experiment in contemporary visual production by bracketing moma's early history from its later reputation this book explores the ways the museum acted as a laboratory to set an ambitious agenda for the exhibition of a multidisciplinary idea of modern art between its founding in 1929 and its 20th anniversary in 1949 moma created the first museum departments of architecture and design film and photography in the country marshaled modern art as a political tool and brought consumer culture into a versatile yet institutional context encompassing 14 essays that investigate the diversity of modern art this volume demonstrates how moma's programming shaped a version of modern art that was not elitist but fundamentally intertwined with all levels of cultural production in this second volume albert boime continues his work on the social history of western art in the modern epoch this volume offers a major critique and revisionist interpretation of western european culture history and society from napoleon's seizure of power to 1815 boime argues that napoleon manipulated the production of images as well as information generally in order to maintain his political hegemony he examines the works of french painters such as jacques louis david and jean auguste dominique ingres to illustrate how the art of the time helped to further the emperor's propagandistic goals he also explores the work of contemporaneous english genre painters spain's francisco de this book tells the story of germany s rich flourishing and diversified world of art in the last decades of the nineteenth century a world that has until recently been eclipsed by the events of the twentieth century basing her narrative on a close reading of contemporary periodicals and lavishly complementing it with cartoons and other illustrations from these publications beth irwin lewis provides the first systematic comprehensive study of that german art world she focuses on how critics and the public responded to new forms of painting that emerged in the 1880s when the explosive growth of art exhibitions supported by local governments across a recently united germany was accompanied by skyrocketing attendance of a new mass public describing the rapid critical acceptance and dominance of the new modern art in the 1890s lewis analyzes these developments within a complex interweaving of social cultural and economic factors although critics had hoped for a unified new art for the new nation the success of modern art fragmented the art world as modern artists and their supporters turned away from the often unreceptive mass public of the great exhibitions lewis s approach through the popular journals reveals the public s growing alienation from modern artists and an increasing contempt for the public on the part of these artists and their supporters all of which prefigured tensions in the contemporary art world her wide ranging text examines not only the various ways art was promoted to and received by the public but also anti semitism the role of women artists and changes in style of both art and criticism well documented engagingly written and vividly illustrated this book will interest not only scholars and students but all readers interested in german cultural history and art history in the eighty years since the museum of modern art was founded contemporary art has been completely transformed from a movement appreciated by a few to a cosmopolitan globe spanning multidisciplinary undertaking that permeates every corner of culture in the museum of modern art in this century moma director glenn d lowry explores that museum as a place instrumental in that revolution a place where art history is constantly revisited and the new is examined and embraced book jacket
