the general election of 1997 did not turn out as jean chretien and the liberal party had planned chretien called an early election believing that his party was in a position to retain the majority they had won in 1993 they got their majority but just barely when the campaign began the focus for many Canadians was the economy and job creation national unity however quickly became a key issue and triggered the most heated debates of the campaign as was the case in 1993 the election of 1997 saw the country divided along regional lines the Bloc Québécois remained strong in Quebec while the Progressive Conservatives and New Democrats dominated the Maritime provinces the Reform Party meanwhile won the West in a landslide becoming the official opposition for the first time it was Ontario however where the election was won the Liberals won all but two seats in Canada's largest province and in the end that was enough to carry Jean Chrétien to victory the Canadian general election of 1997 is a study of the key aspects of the campaign and the election itself in addition to analyzing each party's campaign authors examine the role of the media pollsters the electoral system and the voters articles are contributed by some of the best known political writers in Canada today Anthony Westell Stephen Clarkson Peter Woolstencroft Alan Whitehorn Keith Archer Faron Ellis and Dr. Bernard Chris Dornan Ed Greenspon Michael Marzolini and Louis Massicotte this readable volume will appeal to an academic as well as a general readership and is ideally suited for libraries and political science courses new to this year's volume is a post election survey by Jon Pammett despite a long history of program engagement the fund has not developed guidance on program design in members of currency unions the fund has engaged with members of the four currency unions the Central African Economic and Monetary Community the Eastern Caribbean Currency Union the European Monetary Union and the West African Economic and Monetary Union under fund supported programs in some cases union wide institutions supported their members in undertaking adjustment under fund supported programs as such several programs incorporated on an ad hoc basis critical policy actions that union members had delegated providing general guidance on program design for members in a currency union context would fill a gap in fund policy and help ensure consistent transparent and evenhanded treatment across fund supported programs this paper considers two options on when and how the fund should seek policy assurances from union level institutions in programs of currency union members option 1 would involve amending the conditionality guidelines which would allow the use of standard conditionality tools with respect to actions by union level institutions option 2 which staff prefers proposes formalizing current practices and providing general guidance regarding principles and modalities on policy assurances from union level institutions in support of members adjustment programs neither option would infringe upon the independence or legally provided autonomy of union level institutions since the institutions would decide what measures or policy actions to take just as any independent central bank or monetary authority does for example in non eu members
