an amazing piece of work this is not just a series of newly reported anecdotes and pieces of information it is a remarkable thesis about how trump effectively broke the justice department in his first term by bullying it rachel maddow the rachel maddow show from pulitzer prize winning washington post reporters carol leonnig and aaron c davis a shocking investigation of unparalleled depth into the subversion of the justice department over the last decade culminating in president donald trump upending this cornerstone of democracy and threatening america's rule of law as we have long known it throughout his first administration trump did more than any other president to politicize the nation's top law enforcement agency pressuring appointees to shield him to target his enemies and even to help him cling to power after his 2020 election defeat the department pressed into a defensive crouch has never fully recovered injustice exposes not only the trump administration's efforts to undermine the department at every turn but also how delays in investigating trump's effort to overturn the will of voters under attorney general merrick garland helped prevent the country from holding trump accountable and enabled his return to power with never before told accounts carol leonnig and aaron c davis take readers inside as prosecutors convulsed over trump's disdain for the rule of law and fbi agents the department's storied investigators at times retreated in fear they take you to the rooms where special counsel jack smith's team set off on an all but impossible race to investigate trump for absconding with classified documents and waging an assault on democracy and inside his prosecution's heroic and fateful choices that ultimately backfired with a plethora of sources deeply embedded in the ranks of three presidencies leonnig and davis reveal the daily war secretly waged for the soul of the department how it has been shredded by propaganda and partisanship and how if the united states hopes to live on with its same form of government trump's war with the justice department will mark a turning point from which it will be hard to recover injustice is the jaw dropping account of partisans and enablers undoing democracy heroes still battling to preserve a nation governed by laws and a call to action for those who believe in liberty and justice for all the wto s trade policy review mechanism which reviews the trade policies and practices of each wto member at regular intervals is generally considered to function well in this day and age complacency is unwise examining trade policy reviews throughout the lifetime of the tprm this book details its evolution from article x of the general agreement on tariffs and trade to the proposed modifications resulting from the mechanism s latest appraisal examining the budgetary capabilities and technical performance of all the main entities who participate in the reviews on the basis of these considerations the author concludes that in order to remain relevant especially in times of increased global protectionism the tprm could and should do better and provides unique and timely suggestions for reform an extensive overview of female film directors worldwide showing how they are breaking through the celluloid ceiling and succeeding in a still very male dominated industry the book contains exclusive interviews with women film directors explores the impact of digital technology and reaches some surprising conclusions now that kathryn bigelow has made history as the first woman to win an oscar for directing we ask whether this is a new era for women filmmakers this unique international overview highlights emerging women directors and groundbreaking pioneers and provides a one stop guide to the leading film directors of the 21st century and the people who inspired them from the blockbusters of the hollywood studios to emerging voices from saudi arabia pakistan and laos we learn of women making films in traditionally male dominated areas such as action fantasy and horror there are contributions from countries with film industries in every state from nascent to mature and this book demonstrates how economic and technological change is creating new opportunities for women film directors everywhere best book on women directors due to its global overview diane amazon gabrielle kelly and cheryl robson have crafted a watershed work celluloid ceiling is essential reading for anyone who wants to know how women directors are helping reshape filmmaking d a morris amazon this book is an essential resource for anyone tracking the inspiring work being done by women film directors from around the world ucf film the level of public consciousness about the barriers faced by female filmmakers is higher than it has ever been despite this the discussion more often than not centres around north america and to a lesser extent europe australia and new zealand and i am guilty as charged this is perfectly understandable but clearly women do make films outside of these countries and it can be illuminating to consider how their experiences reflect or differ from those with which we are more familiar to this end the arrival of a new book the celluloid ceiling could not be more timely edited by gabrielle kelly and cheryl robson it takes a purposefully global overview of the status quo and in doing so provides some fascinating stories and insights reminding us of what is lost when we limit the discussion to anglophone directors matthew hammett knott indiewire
