poetry by asian american writers has had a significant impact on the landscape of contemporary american poetry and a book length critical treatment of asian american poetry is long overdue in this groundbreaking book xiaojing zhou demonstrates how many asian american poets transform the conventional i of lyric poetry based on the traditional western concept of the self and the cartesian i to enact a more ethical relationship between the i and its others drawing on emmanuel levinas's idea of the ethics of alterity which argues that an ethical relation to the other is one that acknowledges the irreducibility of otherness zhou offers a reconceptualization of both self and other taking difference as a source of creativity and turning it into a form of resistance and a critical intervention asian american poets engage with broader issues than the merely poetic they confront social injustice against the other and call critical attention to a concept of otherness which differs fundamentally from that underlying racism sexism and colonialism by locating the ethical and political questions of otherness in language discourse aesthetics and everyday encounters asian american poets help advance critical studies in race gender and popular culture as well as in poetry the ethics and poetics of alterity is not limited however to literary studies it is an invaluable response to the questions raised by increasingly globalized encounters across many kinds of boundaries the poets marilyn chin kimiko hahn myung mi kim li young lee timothy liu david mura and john yau this book explores the utopian imagination in contemporary american poetry and the ways in which experimental poets formulate a utopian poetics by adopting the rhetorical principles of negative theology which proposes using negative statements as a means of attesting to the superior unrepresentable being of god with individual chapters on works by such poets as susan howe nathaniel mackey charles bernstein and alice notley this book illustrates how a strategy of negation similarly proves optimal for depicting the subject of utopia in literary works negative theology and utopian thought in contemporary american poetry determined negations contends that negative statements in experimental poetry illustrate the potential for utopian social change not by portraying an ideal world itself but by revealing the very challenge of representing utopia directly
