academics and practitioners argue that intangible values have become significant value drivers of today's economy. Major production inputs no longer comprise of property, plant, and equipment but rather of brands, knowledge, and other technological innovation. Based on this notion, information on such phenomena is supposedly crucial for existing and potential capital providers in making decisions whether to allocate resources to a company. This thesis examines the information use and needs of financial analysts with respect to intangible values. The purpose is to shed light on the usefulness of such information from the perspective of one of the primary user groups of IFRSs.

Basics of Accounting targets students in international business study programs. It covers the widely applied syllabus of accounting at universities on bachelors and masters level. In this book, the application of the methods comes first; the basics teach how to do accounting by a case study based approach. All cases were taken from former exam papers at international universities and calculated completely and illustrated understandably. Bookkeeping and financial accounting covers the preparation of financial statements based on IFRS. Bookkeeping is taught as far as it is required for the understanding by managers. More formal aspects about how to keep financial records are cut short to the minimum.

Intermediate Accounting 12th edition, Volume 2 continues to be the number one intermediate accounting resource in the Canadian market, viewed as the most reliable resource by accounting students, faculty, and professionals. This course helps students understand, prepare, and use financial information by linking education with the real world accounting environment. This new edition now incorporates new data analytics content and up-to-date coverage of leases and revenue recognition.

With increased competition for external funding, technological advancement, and public expectations for transparency, not-for-profit and non-governmental organizations are facing new challenges and pressures. While research has explored the roles of accounting, accountability, and performance management in nonprofit organizations, we still lack evidence on the best practices these organizations implement in the areas of accountability and performance management. This book collects and presents that evidence for the first time, offering insights to help nonprofits face these new challenges head-on. Performance management in nonprofit organizations focuses on both conventional and contemporary issues.

facing nonprofits presenting evidence based insights from leading scholars in the field chapters examine the design implementation and working of accounting accountability governance and performance management measures providing both retrospective and contemporary views as well as critical commentaries on accounting and performance related issues in nonprofit organizations the book s contributors also offer critical commentaries on the changing role of accounting and performance management in this sector this research based collection is an interesting and useful read for academics practitioners students and consultants in nonprofit organizations and is highly accessible to accounting and non accounting audiences alike
