this book explores italian science fiction from 1861 the year of italy s unification to the present day focusing on how this genre helped shape notions of otherness and normalness in particular italian science fiction draws upon critical race studies postcolonial theory and feminist studies to explore how migration colonialism multiculturalism and racism have been represented in genre film and literature topics include the role of science fiction in constructing a national identity the representation and self representation of alien immigrants in italy the creation of internal others such as southerners and roma the intersections of gender and race discrimination and italian science fiction s transnational dialogue with foreign science fiction this book reveals that though it is arguably a minor genre in italy science fiction offers an innovative interpretive angle for rethinking italian history and imagining future change in italian society

despite the significance of its contents the so called demades papyrus p berol inv 13045 has received scarce scholarly attention since the 1923 editio princeps by karl kunst this unique late second century bce document of almost 430 lines was found in the egyptian chora but it is supposed to have been written in alexandria where it probably served as a textbook for the highest level of rhetorical education besides shedding new light on its find circumstances and physical aspects the volume offers a full re edition and commentary of the two adespota texts contained in it namely a eulogy of the lagid monarchy and a historical work consisting of a dialogue between demades and his prosecutor in the trial of 319 bce at the court of pella the aim of the accompanying introduction is to address the question of the origin nature and purpose of such fragments and of the collection itself as well as to show to what extent the papyrus contributes to a better understanding of some of the main historical events of the early hellenistic period this book is thus meant to fill a significant gap in classical scholarship all the more so as a close investigation of most of the topics dealt with therein has hitherto been lacking the cafe is not only a place to enjoy a cup of coffee it is also a space distinct from its urban environment in which to reflect and take part in intellectual debate since the eighteenth century in europe intellectuals and artists have gathered in cafes to exchange ideas inspirations and information that has driven the cultural agenda for europe and the world without the café would there have been a karl marx or a jean paul sartre the café as an institutional site has been the subject of renewed interest amongst scholars in the past decade and its role in the development of art ideas and culture has been explored in some detail however few have investigated the ways in which cafés create a cultural and intellectual space which brings together multiple influences and intellectual practices and shapes the urban settings of which they are a part this volume presents an international group of scholars who consider cafés as sites of intellectual discourse from across europe during the long modern period drawing on literary theory history cultural studies and urban studies the contributors explore the ways in which cafes have functioned and evolved at crucial moments in the histories of important cities and countries notably paris vienna and italy choosing these sites allows readers to understand both the local particularities of each café while also seeing the larger cultural connections between these places by revealing how the café operated as a unique cultural context within the urban setting this volume demonstrates how space and ideas are connected as our global society becomes more focused on creativity and mobility the intellectual cafés of past generations can also serve as inspiration for contemporary and future knowledge workers who will expand and develop this tradition of using and thinking in space dacia maraini s narratives of survival re constructed focuses on dacia maraini s narrative from about 1984 to 2004 and makes substantive use of her interviews and essays while acknowledging the importance and ongoing validity of feminist scholarship of maraini s work this book seeks to take scholarship on maraini beyond feminist readings by identifying a critical framework that cuts across gender and genre and thereby invites alternative readings using a method of close textual analysis the author includes studies of men children animals and imaginary characters in maraini s narrative analyzes language character motifs and symbols and considers some of maraini s work in light of declining postmodern and emerging posthuman critical social theory this critical framework identifies the paradigm of reconstruction as narrative center both strategy and theme of many of maraini s works from this twenty year period and beyond reconstruction here signifies the strategies by which maraini s deep investment in survival which has its roots in the life threatening conditions she experienced as a small child in a wwii japanese concentration camp is enacted in a narrative re building and re constructing of personal memory of various personal social and political histories of motherhood and maternal discourses of crime stories of postmodern fragmentation and even of the process of erasure itself maraini s narrative is deeply attentive to the mechanisms that threaten survival of the body and not just the woman s body psychological and aesthetic survival the survival in the italian canon of a woman author s work memory and legacy after her death the survival of a drug addicted and self destructive younger generation and by extension collective and ecological survival never marked by nihilism or despair maraini s narratives offer the ethos of reconstruction as a variation on the begin again that marks the end of many of her novels and as we can see in colomba her own aesthetic process of renewal and regeneration this book focuses primarily on il treno per helsinki 1984 isolina 1985 some of her short stories for children la nave per kobe diari giapponesi di mia madre 2001 buio strega literary prize 1999 and colomba 2004 the renewed attention to the origin and shape of nationalist discourses has promoted many excellent studies devoted to examining the rich storehouse of cultural responses produced during and after risorgimento the political events that from 1859 to 1870 led Italy from being a fragmented peninsula to an independent and unified nation state however the assessment of risorgimento and its myths from the post world war II era to the present remains for the most part unexplored while it is undeniable that the dramatic economic social and political transformations that have characterized Italy from the second half of the twentieth century to the present have altered the role and function of nationalist narratives it remains equally true that interest in the risorgimento in modern Italian culture has not diminished how regional Italian cuisine became the main ingredient in the nation's political and cultural development in this work Marcus interprets a body of work that managed to transcend the decline of Italian cinema's prominence within the industry during the last two decades of the 20th century manuscript poetics explores the interrelationship between the material features of textual artifacts and the literary aspects of the medieval Italian texts they preserve this original study is both an investigation into the material foundations of literature and a reflection on notions of textuality writing and media in late medieval and early modern Italy Francesco Marco Aresu examines the book objects of manuscripts and early printed editions asking questions about the material conditions of production circulation and reception of literary works he invites scholars to reconcile reading with seeing and with touching and to challenge contemporary presumptions about technological neutrality and the modes of interfacing and reading manuscript poetics investigates the correspondences between textuality and materiality content and medium and visual verbal messages and their physical support through readings of Dante Alighieri's Vita Nova Giovanni Boccaccio's Teseida and Francesco Petrarca's Canzoniere Rerum Vulgarium Fragmenta Aresu shows that dante boccaccio and petrarca evaluated and deployed the tools of scribal culture to shape signal or layer meanings beyond those they conveyed in their written texts medieval texts aresu argues are uniquely positioned to provide this perspective and they are foundational to the theoretical understanding of new forms and materials in our media saturated contemporary world this volume forms the second part of the three volume commentary on the fragments of diphilus who belongs to the prominent triad of the poets of new comedy alongside menander and philemon the present volume comprises the text and an english translation of the fragments of twenty two plays of diphilus followed by a full scale philological thematic literary interpretative historical commentary that also yields insight into the reception of diphilan comedy in roman theatre this in depth study of the diphilan techniques of verbal humour and performance aims at shedding light on the dramatist s distinctive place in the comic tradition as well as showcasing a degree of variation in the overall image of the production of new comedy this study recovers italo calvino s central place in a lost history of interdisciplinary thought politics and literary philosophy in the 1960s drawing on his letters essays critical reviews and fiction as well as a wide range of works primarily urban planning and design theory and history circulating among his primary interlocutors this book takes as its point of departure a sweeping reinterpretation of invisible cities passages from calvino s most famous novel routinely appear as aphorisms in calendars posters and the popular literature of inspiration and self help reducing the novel to vague abstractions and totalizing wisdom about thinking outside the box the shadow of postmodern studies has had a similarly diminishing effect on this text rendering up an accomplished but ultimately apolitical novelistic experimentation in endless deconstructive deferrals the shiny surfaces of play and the ultimately rigged game of self referentiality in contrast this study draws on an archive of untranslated italian and french language materials on urban planning architecture and utopian architecture to argue that calvino s novel in fact introduces readers to the material history of urban renewal in italy france and the u s in the 1960s as well as the multidisciplinary core of cultural life in that decade the complex and continuous interplay among novelists and architects scientists and artists literary historians and visual studies scholars his last love poem for the dying city was in fact profoundly engaged deeply committed to the ethical dimensions of both architecture and lived experience in the spaces of modernity as well as the resistant practices of reading and utopian imagining that his urban studies in turn inspired
