interpreting the prohibition era at museums and historic sites chronicles the rise and fall of one of the greatest attempted reforms in american history why were americans so worried about alcohol why did they seek to ban an entire industry how did those involved in the trade react how did repeal come about how should we remember the noble crusade such questions are important both for historians and museums who seek to interpret the prohibition era as well as for the general public who wants to know more about the roaring twenties and how it continues to shape the united states today case studies cover breweries reformers women saloons both before and after prohibition gamblers and gumshoes this guide will help museum and history professionals make sense of a complex story relate the history and legacy of political pressure groups and help learners think about the era in new ways the sun never sets collects the work of a generation of scholars who are enacting a shift in the orientation of the field of south asian american studies which has until recently largely centered on literary and cultural analyses of an affluent immigrant population the contributors focus instead on the histories and political economy of south asian migration to the u s and upon the lives work and activism of specific often unacknowledged migrant populations presenting a more comprehensive vision of the south asian presence in the united states tracking the shifts in global power that have influenced the paths and experiences of migrants from expatriate indian maritime workers at the turn of the century to indian nurses during the cold war to post 9 11 detainees and deportees caught in the crossfire of the war on terror these essays reveal how the south asian diaspora has been shaped by the contours of u s imperialism driven by a shared sense of responsibility among the contributing scholars to alter the profile of south asian migrants in the american public imagination they address the key issues that impact these migrants in the u s on the subcontinent and in circuits of the transnational economy taken together these essays provide tools with which to understand the contemporary political and economic conjuncture and the place of south asian migrants within it vivek bald is assistant professor of comparative media studies at the massachusetts institute of technology and author of bengali harlem and the lost histories of south asian america miabi chatterji received her phd from new york university in american studies she serves on the board of directors of the resist foundation and works with non profit organizations such as nyufasp a group of nyu faculty working for shared governance at their institution sujani reddy is five college assistant professor of asian pacific american studies in the department of american studies at amherst college manu vimalassery is assistant professor of history at texas tech university
