ann beattie annie dillard maxine hong kingston toni morrison cynthia ozick grace paley marge piercy anne redmon anne tyler and alice walker all seem to be especially concerned with narrative management the ten essays in this book raise new and intriguing questions about the ways these leading women writers appropriate and transform generic norms and ultimately revise literary tradition to make it more inclusive of female experience vision and expression the contributors to this volume discover diverse narrative strategies beattie dillard paley and redmon in divergent ways rely heavily upon narrative gaps surfaces and silences often suggesting depths which are lamentably absent from modern experience or which mysteriously elude language for kingston and walker verbal assertiveness is the focus of narratives depicting the gradual empowerment of female protagonists who learn to speak themselves into existence ozick and tyler disrupt conventional reader expectations of the anti novel and the family novel respectively finally morrison s and piercy s works reveal how traditional narrative forms such as the bildungsroman and the soap opera are adaptable to feminist purposes in examining the writings of these ten important women authors this book illuminates a significant moment in literary history when women s voices are profoundly reshaping american literary tradition starting from s øren kierkegaard s insight that fully accepting the human condition requires one to live with the persistent temptation to escape from it ronald hall finds similar concerns reflected in the work of two modern day philosophers stanley cavell and martha nussbaum who equally find in a philosophy of love and marriage the key to understanding how humans may achieve happiness in the acceptance of their humanity all three thinkers follow a logic of paradox in showing how success in the human quest to be human depends crucially on the struggle humans experience with the ever present opportunities to pursue alternative paths what kierkegaard called living existentially can be achieved only after confronting and refusing the possibilities of living in aesthetic ethical or even religious denial of one s true humanity by creating this dialogue between the nineteenth century danish thinker and two eminent twentieth century philosophers hall reveals the continuing relevance of kierkegaard s thought to our own age and its cogency as an interpretation of the human predicament the now classic utterly unique voice of ann beattie is so dry it throws off sparks her eye endowed with the emotional equivalent of x ray vision her characters are young men and women discovering what it means to be a grown up in a country that promised them they d stay young forever and here in shapely penetrating stories beattie confirms why she is one of the most widely imitated yet surely inimitable literary stylists of her generation in the burning house beattie s characters go from dealing drugs to taking care of a bereaved friend they watch their marriages fail not with a bang but with a wisecrack and afterward they may find themselves trading confidences with their spouses new lovers the burning house proves that beattie has no peer when it comes to revealing the hidden shapes of our relationships or the depths of tenderness grief and anger that lie beneath the surfaces of our daily lives
