we need a new theory of money the still dominant theory of money as taught in intro textbooks is 100 years old and for almost that long we have known that it's totally wrong the best alternative are heterodox accounts developed in the 90s and 00s these are indeed better overall descriptions of money but they remain incomplete and inadequate they rely too much on why the orthodoxy is wrong thereby incorrectly assuming there is only one alternative so called heterodoxy money has no value develops a new more subtle more sophisticated theory of money it takes more seriously than any other work to date the depth and seriousness of the fundamental claim that all money is credit money is not a thing but a marker of a social relation of credit and debt between two parties money is not value itself no form of money as money ever possesses any positive intrinsic value second the book shows that not only is all money credit but that in an important theoretical sense all credit is money to the extent any credit debt between two parties has the potential to be transferred to another party thereby functioning as money finally the book links this radical credit theory of money to today's concrete money practices this includes global capital flows national and international monetary policy and most of all the daily turnover in the money markets the book therefore develops the needed conceptual framework to ask questions like what is going on with bitcoin much less gamestop in 2021 the new testament does not conform neatly to any modern attempts to define the christian approach to other religions argues basil scott he confronts the questions what does the new testament tell us about religions and what is its approach to those who were gentiles and to their beliefs and practices he focuses his attention on the evidence presented by the new testament itself and especially on the attitude of its writers to the religions of their times written by a scholar with over twenty years experience in the south asian context this title makes a fine addition to the conversation and to the new fortress press efforts to bring south asian scholarship to a wider readership this is a story of a person arriving in this country in this country and in this city where he eventually ended up in the middle of the night not knowing a soul in canada and having just about 10 in his pocket using my imagination i let this imaginary person peter show the reader the adventures and misadventures he and eventually his family experienced in this for him so strange and at the same time exciting new place i decided to cover a period of roughly the first 25 years peter spent in his new closed homeland i could have continued showing the development of his and his family's life after the 25 year period but i decided against that i wanted this story to have closure another possible book would show the reader how peter's life continued after 25 years and would show us how he and his loved ones continued with their lives with its ups and downs the gist of the events occurred from the mid 1950's until the early 1980's i actually completed this book in 1982 it was lying in my filing cabinet for 30 years because i never had either the time or inclination to publish in writing the title of this publication destiny has no favorites is correct destiny or fate has no favorites and we all are at the mercy of this destiny destined for us by that higher power we may call god nature the absolute being the creator providence the omnipotent being the supreme soul or whatever made us feel better to accept the unacceptable this book is meant to illuminate godlike faith through defining it giving clarification where it comes from revealing how to walk in it and divulging what it is capable of doing god's soldiers must remember that we are in the army of the lord we are fighting a supernatural enemy bent on our destruction only godlike faith knows that satan has no authority or power over us that knowledge equips us with the ability to overcome the satanic designs that are aimed at our destruction however many christians are not walking in godlike faith or living a victorious life in christ many are overwhelmed by defeat and discouragement and are allowing satan to take authority or power that he does not have it's time to walk in the truth that christ took his authority and gave it to god's soldiers as we learn to walk in the mind of christ we have godlike faith that gives no place to satan his demons or his diabolical plans to destroy us by the time this book is read to the end god's soldiers will take authority over all satanic designs change the entailment and live a victorious life through godlike faith heaven has no ground is the fierce intimate story of ama a young woman who is reckoning with the death of her father when she receives her own cancer diagnosis and contrary to the wishes of family and friends decides to seek alternative treatments rather than conventional chemotherapy and radiation while this book was published as a work of fiction to great acclaim in the czech republic it follows very closely the life story of its author hana andronikova who wrote the book during a period of optimism in her own battle with breast cancer much like hana ama travels the world to find guidance and healing going to peru to consult a shaman and receive the amazon's wisdom to communities of christian believers and native americans in the nevada desert and to the holy sites of israel using striking metaphors and intensely emotional language in journal entries emails and narrative fragments andronikova takes us with her on a remarkable journey as she comes to grips with her human limitations and celebrates her place in the circle of life this new edition of a classic feminist book explains how one of the great historical revolutions the ongoing movement toward equality between the sexes has come about its origins are to be found not in changing ideas but in the economic developments that have made women s labour too valuable to be spent exclusively in domestic pursuits the revolution is unfinished new arrangements are needed to fight still prevalent discrimination in the workplace to achieve a more just sharing of housework and childcare between women and men and with the weakening of the institution of marriage to re erect a firm economic basis for the raising of children

this book proposes a new solution to the problem of vagueness there are several different ways of addressing this problem and no clear agreement on which one is correct the author proposes that it should be understood as the problem of explaining vague predicates in a way that systematizes six intuitions about the phenomenon and satisfies three criteria of adequacy for an ideal theory of vagueness the third criterion which is called the criterion of precisification is the most controversial one it is based on the intuition that a predicate is vague only if it is imprecise the author considers some different definitions of linguistic imprecision proposing that a predicate is imprecise if and only if there is no sharp boundary between objects to which its application yields some particular truth value and objects to which its application does not yield that truth value the volume critically reviews the current theories of vagueness and proposes a new one the theory of vagueness as arbitrariness which defines a vague predicate as an arbitrary predicate that must be precisified in order to contribute to a sentence that has truth conditions the main advantages of this theory over the current alternatives are that it satisfies all three criteria and systematizes the relevant intuitions
