because it all seems so improbableÑso horribly impossible to me now sitting here safe and sane in my own libraryÑi hesitate to record an episode which already appears to me less horrible than grotesque yet unless this story is written now i know i shall never have the courage to tell the truth about the matterÑnot from fear of ridicule but because i myself shall soon cease to credit what i now know to be true yet scarcely a month has elapsed since i heard the stealthy purring of what i believed to be the shoaling undertowÑscarcely a month ago with my own eyes i saw that which even now i am beginning to believe never existed as for the harbor masterÑand the blow i am now striking at the old order of thingsÑbut of that i shall not speak now or later i shall try to tell the story simply and truthfully and let my friends testify as to my probity and the publishers of this book corroborate them on the 29th of february i resigned my position under the government and left washington to accept an offer from professor farragoÑwhose name he kindly permits me to useÑand on the first day of april i entered upon my new and congenial duties as general superintendent of the water fowl department connected with the zoological gardens then in course of erection at bronx park new york for a week i followed the routine examining the new foundations studying the architect s plans following the surveyors through the bronx thickets suggesting arrangements for water courses and pools destined to be included in the enclosures for swans geese pelicans herons and such of the waders and swimmers as we might expect to acclimate in bronx park it was at that time the policy of the trustees and officers of the zoological gardens neither to employ collectors nor to send out expeditions in search of specimens the society decided to depend upon voluntary contributions and i was always busy part of the day in dictating answers to correspondents who wrote offering their services as hunters of big game collectors of all sorts of fauna trappers snarers and also to those who offered specimens for sale usually at exorbitant rates to the proprietors of five legged kittens mangy lynxes moth eaten coyotes and dancing bears i returned courteous but uncompromising

Of course first submitting all such letters together with my replies to professor farrago one day towards the end of may however just as i was leaving bronx park to return to town professor lesard of the reptilian department called out to me that professor farrago wanted to see me a moment so i put my pipe into my pocket again and retraced my steps to the temporary wooden building occupied by professor farrago general superintendent of the zoological gardens the professor who was sitting at his desk before a pile of letters and replies submitted for approval by me pushed his glasses down and looked over them at me with a whimsical smile that suggested amusement impatience annoyance and perhaps a faint trace of apology
