todays environment is full of pollution and people are either not aware of its dangers or even if they know they simply ignore them but if we allow the pollution to go on uncontrolled it could be the end of the world as we know it but no use crying over spilt milk the time to act is now the poet decided that rather than writing a technical book on the subject of pollution and environment he would use a creative way and present this subject through verses after publication of part one titled wreath for the earth which was published by partridge this is part two of verses like part one these english verses too are a free translation of the poets own hindi poems these verses are addressed to young adults and teenagers who are the hope for tomorrows world remember that it is not a prayer because jesus never prayed for the sick it is a command so firmly get it fixed in your mind to say in the name of jesus we command and then speak to the part of the body that needs healing when jesus healed the sick man at the pool of bethesda he said rise take up your bed and walk john 5 8 in matthew 12 13 jesus commanded the man with the withered hand stretch out your hand and when the man did his hand was restored as whole as the other jesus disciples followed his example of making healing commands as recorded in acts 3 6 in the healing of the lame man then peter said silver and gold i do not have but what i do have i give to you in the name of jesus christ of nazareth rise up and walk verse 7 proclaims and he took him by the right hand and lifted him up and immediately his feet and ankle bones received strength the scriptures go on to report that the healed man began walking and leaping and praising god notice also that when the people put their faith into action whether by stretching out their hand or taking up their bed and walking or rising up and walking they were

this ethnography explores the ngoma healing tradition as practiced in eastern mpumalanga south africa bungoma is an active philosophical system and healing practice consisting of multiple strands based on the notion that humans are intrinsically exposed to each other and that this is the cause of illness but also the condition for the possibility of healing this healing seeks to protect the exposed being from harm through augmenting the self unlike western medicine it does not seek to cure physical ailments but aims to prevent suffering by allowing patients to transform their personal narratives of self like western medicine it is empirical and is presented as a local knowledge that amounts to a practical anthropology of human conflict and the environment the book seeks to bring this anthropology and its therapeutic applications into relation with global academic anthropology by explaining it through political economic interpretive and environmental lenses healing the circle at long last the earth had had enough enough pollution enough mistreatment and draining of her resources finally the earth mother rebelled with devastation disease fire earthquakes and other natural disasters that brought the civilized world to its knees for untold generations the native people of the continent called north america told stories of the broken circle of the natural world they warned of the consequences of trespass misuse and mistreatment of the mother of us all they also told stories of the healing of this world they told of the return of the buffalo and the buffalo people this is the story of how that healing came to pass the story of the beginning of the fourth age of the world and how the people came to once again begin a walk down the red road the sacred path this is a story of how these people began to walk the path of true human beings once more
