since the 1980s novels about childhood for adults have been a booming genre within the contemporary british literary market childhood in the contemporary english novel offers the first comprehensive study of this literary trend assembling analyses of key works by ian mcewan doris lessing p d james nick hornby sarah moss and stephen kelman and situating them in their cultural and political contexts sandra dinter uncovers both the reasons for the current popularity of such fiction and the theoretical shift that distinguishes it from earlier literary epochs the book s central argument is that the contemporary english novel draws on the constructivist paradigm shift that revolutionised the academic study of childhood several decades ago contemporary works of fiction dinter argues depart from the notion of childhood as a naturally given phase of life and examine the agents interests and conflicts involved in its cultural production dinter also considers the limits of this new theoretical impetus observing that authors and scholars alike even when they claim to conceive of childhood as a construct do not always give up on the idea of its natural core accordingly this book reconstructs how the english novel between the 1980s and the 2010s oscillates between an acknowledgment of constructivism and an endorsement of childhood as the last irrevocable quintessence of humanity in doing so it successfully extends the literary and cultural history of childhood to the immediate present this book exposes the stark consequences on child development of both our low expectations of fellow human beings and our safety obsessed culture helene guldberg argues that we need to identify what the real problems are and how much they matter this ground breaking work provides the first history of ideas about the sexual child in modernity beginning with twenty first century panics about sexualization the authors address why the sexual child excites such powerful emotions in the anglophone west this highly topical and relevant book for parents will help with raising not only life long learners but children with long and happy learned lives both practical and inspiring this book is designed to empower educators and school leaders to make clear and simple adjustments to their practice for a lasting impact on the happiness and well being of staff and children and ultimately on academic standards it includes practical tips and activities to help teachers generate a lasting atmosphere of positivity and happiness in the classroom plus clear strategies to help leaders to embed the spread the happiness approach throughout their school and across the curriculum this book includes detailed case studies a five week programme of taster challenges and a section on measuring outcomes and sharing success the spread the happiness approach invites teachers to undertake a 27 day challenge which encourages problem solving and challenges them to make their immediate workplace happier it identifies the strengths of adults and children and sets realistic goals to achieve as an individual as a team and even as a community this powerful resource will be of great interest to all teachers and school leaders as well as trainee teachers and students on leadership or early educational courses this book provides an ethnographic contribution to research on children s consumption family life and happiness various and shifting notions of happiness are explored as well as conditions for and challenges to happiness through an analysis of video recorded interviews and mobile ethnography conducted in two of the most popular theme parks in sweden initially the study outlines how previous research has conceptualized happiness in association with time and place in a rather static way based on a treatise of notions of happiness in philosophy and the social sciences there is a turn in this thesis towards practice it generates fundamental knowledge about the complexity of happiness by employing this approach it is possible to highlight how happiness is enacted as part of and in relation to ideals of family life time childhood money consumption experiences and material things as we explore the practices of children and their families we discover that shifting meanings of happiness are located in contemporary culture where emotions and consumption are of central importance the approach is interdisciplinary and draws on theoretical and methodological contributions in sociology anthropology and science and technology studies sts notions of meshwork and enactment become important for the exploration of happiness as a complex and changing matter which productively involves social relations and material things throughout the thesis there is a dialogue with previous research on happiness consumption and childhood which highlights the importance of exploring messy practices in movement it is argued that explorations of practice contribute to a critical understanding of how happiness and contemporary ideals of childhood can be approached through consumption and as part of citizenship in a consumer society where happiness is of central importance denna avhandling utgör ett etnografiskt bidrag till forskning om barns konsumtion familjeliv och lycka genom en analys av videoinspelade intervjuer samt familjebesök till två av sveriges mest välbesökta temaparker utforskas skiftande betydelser av lycka liksom dess förutsättningar och utmaningar tidigare temaparks forskning har generellt tagit lyckans existens för given utifrån en inledande diskussion om bland annat olika filosofiska och samhällsvetenskapliga lyckoteorier argumenterar avhandlingen för att studier av praktik tillför ny och grundläggande kunskap om lyckans komplexa sammansättningar avhandlingen visar därigenom att lycka iscensätts som en del av och i förhållande till ideal om familjeliv tid barndom pengar konsumtion upplevelser och materiella ting genom att fokusera på barn och deras familjers praktiker lokaliseras lyckans skiftande betydelser i en samtidskultur där emotioner och konsumtion är centrala avhandlingens ansats är tvärvetenskaplig och hämtar teoretisk och metodologisk inspiration från sociologi antropologi samt teknik och vetenskapsstudier sts genom denna ansats synliggörs sammanflätningar av sociala relationer och materiella ting som produktiva i iscensättandet av lycka genom en dialog mellan empiriska beskrivningar och forskning om lycka konsumtion och barndom belyser avhandlingen nödvändigheten av att synliggöra och utforska rörliga och rörliga praktiker det bidrar till en kritisk förståelse av praktik som kan förändra hur vi närmar oss lycka och samtida barndomsideal som konsumenter och medborgare i ett lyckosträvande konsumtionssamhälle
