the theological impact of accepting the absolute authority of biblical scripture is enormous especially for women who attend and serve churches but until now few books have been willing to address this issue head on sarah lancaster looks at the way women in the church have dealt with the question of scriptural authority and how they can address it in the future some women she says accept the authority of the bible without question and stay in church without change of attitude or action others deny that the bible has any authority completely leaving christianity in the belief that the bible and christian tradition are irredeemably patriarchal still others recognize that while scripture is largely patriarchal it is authoritative for their life of faith the bible possesses a narrative coherence its story resonating in our own lives for women the bible can continue to ring true to their experience letting them acknowledge scripture s authority in spite of its problems the bible is not about patriarchy it is about how god is present to us and interacts with us in order to bring us to fullness of life lancaster says that women can criticize those things in scripture that help maintain a patriarchal world without invalidating scripture s authority scripture she argues informs forms and transforms with its combination of narrative and feminist theology women and the authority of scripture brings a powerful new perspective to the doctrine of biblical authority in the contemporary world sarah heaner lancaster is associate professor of theology methodist theological school in delaware ohio she is an ordained elder in the north texas conference of the united methodist church she lives in westerville ohio a collection of essays written by a wide diversity of scholars including thomas f torrance geoffrey wainwright elizabeth achtemeier colin gunton and robert w jenson that discuss and critically analyze the crucial theological issues at stake in the feminist theological agenda the first volume of its kind to offer an orthodox critical response to the proposals of contemporary feminist theology a robust theological argument against the assumption that god is male god values women while many christians would readily affirm this truth the widely held assumption that the bible depicts a male god persists as it has for centuries this misperception of christianity not only perniciously implies that men deserve an elevated place over women but also compromises the glory of god by making god appear to be part of creation subject to it and its categories rather than in transcendence of it through a deep reading of the incarnation narratives of the new testament and other relevant scriptural texts amy peeler shows how the bible depicts a god beyond gender and a savior who while embodied as a man is the unification in one person of the image of god that resides in both male and female peeler begins with a study of mary and her response to the annunciation through which it becomes clear that god empowers women and honors their agency then peeler describes from a theological standpoint how the virgin birth of jesus the second adam reverses the gendered division enacted in the garden of eden while acknowledging the significance of the bible's frequent use of father language to represent god as a caring parent peeler goes beneath the surface of this metaphor to show how god is never sexualized by biblical writers or described as being physically involved in procreation making the concept of a masculine god dubious at best from these doctrinal centers of christianity peeler leads the way in reasserting the value of women in the church and prophetically speaking out against the destructive idolatry of masculinity the michael ramsey prize longlist 2023 since time immemorial women have been the most consistently and universally abused people group on planet earth as men in virtually every human culture have systematically unrelentingly and often violently dominated women unfortunately women of faith have also been virtually bound in chains of submission and gagged by demands for silence since the end of the apostolic era god and women brings serious biblical and historical scholarship to bear on the role of women in family society and church in an analysis of god's original intentions for women and for men at the moment when he created humanity whether you are a woman or a man this book and the other volumes in this series will literally set you free challenging you to think and to act on divine truths from the hebraic foundations of your faith you will clearly see god's original design and intent for women and you will start tearing down prison walls that have deprived half of god's children of the freedom to pursue his gifts and calling in the family in the society and especially in the community of faith at the center of christianity is jesus of nazareth whose maleness is used by many to justify the subordination of women and to emphasize that men rather than women better represent jesus this raises a number of questions that are the subject of this book what is the significance of jesus maleness does it reveal the character of god is it foundational for the gospel is jesus maleness associated with an ongoing created order of male priority our answers will affect christianity's task of love justice and reconciliation in a world that is characterized by the global marginalization oppression and abuse of women american protestant christianity is often described as a two party system divided into liberals and conservatives this book clarifies differences between the intellectual positions of these two groups by advancing the thesis that the philosophy of the modern period is largely responsible for the polarity of protestant christian thought a second thesis is that the modern philosophical positions driving the division between liberals and conservatives have themselves been called into question it therefore becomes opportune to ask how theology ought to be done in a postmodern era and to envision a rapprochement between theologians of the

pastoring god s people is not about managerial techniques or quick fix therapies pastors are not life coaches or salesmen they are ambassadors of christ jesus called to speak not of their own wisdom but the wisdom of the cross their craft is the art of knowing how to distinguish god s law from his gospel they preach the law not in order to renovate broken lives but to reveal the rot that sin has caused so that god s other word the good news of the forgiveness of sins can ring true and clear restoring the joy of salvation to those caught in guilt and despair this book is aptly titled pastor craft as it takes us into the workshop of a teacher whose life has been devoted to teaching this craft to those calling it will be to preach this good word in season and out of season young pastors will find seasoned wisdom here for faithful ministry veteran pastors might read the book as something as a refresher course in pastoral theology what is god like answering this is the great quest of human existence because god is so different from us we struggle to describe him while doctrinal statements about god certainly have their place in christian understanding the bible more often uses god s actions and roles to help us know him better indeed some of the most helpful insights in scripture arise when god is compared to something else a rock an eagle or a tower and many human metaphors metaphors taken from the world of actions and relationships bring us even closer to understanding of god in portraits of god allan coppedge suggests we look carefully at god as our father redeemer king judge priest and creator these portraits taken together give us an understanding of the holy one for which no single category is adequate these images work their way through the whole of scripture they are the doorway allowing us into the mysteries of god s very being in portraits of god coppedge offers a comprehensive survey picturing a god who wants to be known personally and who has profoundly communicated himself coppedge finds the inexhaustible nature of god to be one of holiness reflected in and best described by the language of diverse roles approaching god in this way transforms us as churches and individuals to reflect god s own holy character this is a book for students pastors and churchgoers alike anyone desiring to know more deeply and wholly the christian god revealed in the bible will find in portraits of god a treasure of scholarship and truth a compilation of thirty seven essays outlining and exemplifying reformed views on the major christian doctrines and practices as editor donald mckim notes this volume constitutes the Óonly substantial theological reference tool for studying the major emphases of reformed theology Ó since augustine many philosophers and theologians have discussed the relation of god to time whereas the relation between god and space has been rarely discussed this book deals with the relationship of god to space divine transcendence is one important aspect of the christian god however god is also immanent in the world of space and time the author investigates the concept of divine spatiality and presents case studies of three modern theologians torrance pannenbergh and moltmann he also analyses divine spatiality by using dyrnness s three categories relationship agency and embodiment in houses of the interpreter david lyle jeffrey explores the terrain of the cultural history of biblical interpretation but jeffrey does not merely rest content to chart biblical scholarship and how it has both influenced and been influenced by culture instead he chooses to focus upon the art of biblical interpretation how sculptors musicians poets novelists and painters have read the bible by so doing jeffrey clearly demonstrates that such cultural interpretation has deepened the church's understanding of the bible as scripture and that remarkably this cultural reading has contributed to theology and the practice of faith jeffrey's chapters effectively root the theological issues central to any hermeneutical enterprise e.g. scriptural authority narrative the old testament as christian scripture the role of the reader gender and postmodernism in specific authors and artists e.g. chaucer bosch sir orfeo c.s. lewis and he does this in constant conversation with literature both eastern and western

charles hartshorne's considerable writings have been influential in contemporary religious and philosophical thought not only is he regarded as the leading living representative of process thought as well as a much respected interpreter of whitehead but he has also established himself as an original and creative thinker in his own right the literature on his philosophy has been rapidly increasing his thought and influence have also been the subject of a number of conferences and gatherings of scholars one of hartshorne's most notable contributions to contemporary philosophy and theology is his concept of god in his writings he has set out to formulate the idea of deity so as to preserve perhaps increase its religious value while yet avoiding the contradictions which seem inseparable from the idea as customarily defined the result of his efforts has been the development of the concept of a dipolar god insofar as contrasting metaphysical predicates e.g. relative absolute contingent necessary finite infinite and so on are affirmed as applicable to god although always in an eminent way inasmuch as he has elaborated this concept in close dialogue with classical theism he also refers to it as neo-classical because of the emphasis he places on the reality of change and becoming in his metaphysics which regards god as the chief exemplification of metaphysical principles the term 6 process has likewise been used to describe his notion of god
