This book frames the mission of the continental philosophy and history of thought series at Lexington Books. International leading scholars contribute essays that explore and redefine the relationship between received arguments in contemporary continental philosophy and various influential figures and arguments in the history of thought by bringing continental philosophy and the histories of thought into dialogue. Editors Christian Lotz and Antonio Calcagno broaden the standard canon of what is considered continental philosophy by including important yet understudied figures and arguments in the tradition. The chapters also deepen and contextualize significant movements and debate in the field by showing their rich historical underpinnings, thereby establishing new viewpoints in specific constituent subfields of philosophy. Reading continental philosophy and the history of thought shows the growing richness of continental philosophy via unexplored rethinking of the history of thought. The contributors expand continental philosophy with and through the recovery of important historical developments, figures, and lines of thought.
