this clearly written and engrossing book presents a global narrative of the origins of the modern world unlike most studies which assume that the rise of the west is the story of the coming of the modern world this history drawing upon new scholarship on asia africa and the new world constructs a story in which those parts of the world play major roles robert b marks defines the modern world as one marked by industry the nation state interstate warfare a large and growing gap between the wealthiest and poorest parts of the world and an escape from the biological old regime he explains its origins by emphasizing contingencies such as the conquest of the new world the broad comparability of the most advanced regions in china india and europe the reasons why england was able to escape from common ecological constraints facing all of those regions by the 18th century and a conjuncture of human and natural forces that solidified a gap between the industrialized and non industrialized parts of the world view an online study guide for this book the sequel and companion volume to c a bayly s ground breaking the birth of the modern world 1780 1914 this wide ranging and sophisticated study explores global history since the first world war offering a coherent comparative overview of developments in politics economics and society at large written by one of the leading historians of his generation an early intellectual leader in the study of world history weaves a clear narrative history that explores the themes of politics economics social cultural and intellectual life throughout the long twentieth century identifies the themes of state capital and communication as key drivers of change on a global scale in the last century and explores the impact of those ideas interrogates whether warfare was really the pre eminent driving force of twentieth century history and what other ideas shaped the course of history in this period explores the causes behind the resurgence of local conflict rather than global scale conflict in the years since the turn of the millennium delves into the narrative of inequality a story that has shaped and been shaped by the events of the last hundred years part of the blackwell history of the world series the goal of this ambitious series is to provide an accessible source of knowledge about the entire human past for every curious person in every part of the world it will comprise some two dozen volumes of which some provide synoptic views of the history of particular regions while others consider the world as a whole during a particular period of time the volumes are narrative in form giving balanced attention to social and cultural history in the broadest sense as well as to institutional development and political change each provides a systematic account of a very large subject but they are also both imaginative and interpretative the series is intended to be accessible to the widest possible readership and the accessibility of its volumes is matched by the style of presentation and production two monumental works on the nature of the modern age by romano guardini one of the most important catholic figures of the 20th century this expanded edition of the end of the modern world a search for orientation includes its sequel power and responsibility a course of action for the new age in both guardini analyzes modern man's conception of himself in the world and examines the nature and use of power it is the principle of individual responsibility that weaves both works into a seamless comprehensive and compelling moral statement guardini tirelessly argues that human beings are responsible moral agents possessed of free will and answerable to god and their fellow man on the end of the modern world this book will cauterize the spirit of any man who reads it it will burn away that sentimentality with which so many today view the advent of the new order imagining as they do that a fully technologized universe can retain every significant cultural and traditional value sustained by the past frederick d wilhelmsen founding editor of triumph magazine and professor at the university of dallas on power and responsibility if the characteristic of hellenic civilization is to be summed up in the word logos the characteristic of our own is more exactly summed up in the word power the fact itself is a challenge to the wisdom of man one is grateful that romano guardini has taken up the challenge i highly recommend the book to all who are wise enough to know today's need to wisdom that is i recommend the book to every thoughtful mind john courtney murray's j architect of the vatican ii declaration on religious liberty and author of we hold these truths how do historians make sense of the spatial layeredness of the past cyrus schayegh argues that the modern world's ultimate socio spatial feature is not the oft studied processes of globalization or state formation or urbanization but rather the fast paced mutually transformative intertwinements of cities regions states and global circuits how did the modern world get to be the way it is how did we come to live in a globalized industrialized capitalistic set of nation states moving beyond eurocentric explanations and histories that revolve around the rise of the west distinguished historian robert b marks explores the roles of asia africa and the new world in the global story he defines the modern world as marked by industry the nation state interstate warfare a large and growing gap between the wealthiest and poorest parts of the world and an escape from environmental constraints bringing the saga to the present marks considers how and why the united states emerged as a world power in the 20th century and the sole superpower by the 21st century the powerful resurgence of asia and the vastly changed relationship of humans to the environment this book traces in a lucid manner the history of the modern period from the seven years war in europe to the formation of the united nations organization the period in between witnessed the american war of independence as well as the civil war the epochal french revolution the two phases of the industrial revolution the birth of capitalism socialism and marxism the orientation of china and japan and the two great wars the author has deftly maintained the sequence of the events as no event in history can stand in isolation
