late antiquity witnessed a dramatic recalibration in the economy of power and nowhere was this more pronounced than in the realm of religion the transformations that occurred in this pivotal era moved the ancient world into the middle ages and forever changed the way that religion was practiced the twenty eight studies in this volume explore this shift using evidence ranging from latin poetic texts to syriac letter collections to the iconography of roman churches and merovingian mortuary goods they range in chronology from the late third through the early seventh centuries ad and apply varied theories and approaches all converge around the notion that religion is fundamentally a discourse of power and that power in late antiquity was especially charged with the force of religion the articles are divided into eight sections which examine the power of religion in literature theurgical power over the divine emperors and the deployment of religious power limitations on the power of the ecclesiastical hierarchy the use of the cross as a symbol of power rome and its transformation as a center of power the power of religion in the barbarian west and religious power in the communities of the east this kaleidoscope of perspectives creates a richly illuminating volume that add a new social and political dimension to current debates about religion in late antiquity confession is a word we have heard often but not truly had a biblical understanding of it confession has been associated with religion where we confess our sin or has been likened to a declaration brother gery malanda apostle and leader of house of prayer for all nations europe and teacher on tbn s voice of healing uk gives a biblical teaching on what is confession he explores what the bible teaches on confession of sin and the power of the blood of jesus in cleaning all sins brother gery highlights the power of exposing the works of darkness by confessing our secret sin using biblical examples as well as sharing from his own personal experiences through the word of god he demystifies what god meant in forgiving of sin in this book he presents the sacrifice of jesus christ on the cross as a salvation package that provides for our salvation healing deliverance and prosperity finally brother gery explores the importance of confessing the word of god in one s life highlighting it s advantages the three components that are involved in a true confession and the power of the tongue in framing the world around you through this succinct teaching brother gery demonstrates the importance of thinking as god thinks saying only what god is saying and doing only what is doing according to his word in transforming yourself and the world around you what should historians do with the words of the dead inquisition and power reformulates the historiography of heresy and the inquisition by focusing on depositions taken from the cathars a religious sect that opposed the catholic church and took root in southern france during the twelfth century despite the fact that these depositions were spoken in the vernacular but recorded in latin in the third person and rewritten in the past tense historians have often taken these accounts as verbatim transcriptions of personal testimony this belief has prompted some historians including e le roy ladurie to go so far as to retranslate the testimonies into the first person these testimonies have been a long source of controversy for historians and scholars of the middle ages arnold enters current theoretical debates about subjectivity and the nature of power to develop reading strategies that will permit a more nuanced reinterpretation of these documents of interrogation rather than seeking to recover the true voice of the cathars from behind the inquisitor s framework this book shows how the historian is better served by analyzing texts as sites of competing discourses that construct and position a variety of subjectivities in this critically informed history arnold suggests that what we do with the voices of history in fact has as much to do with ourselves as with those we seek to rescue from the silences of past

13 papers by 16 leading archaeologists and historians of late antiquity and the early middle ages break new ground in their discussion analysis and criticism of present interpretations of early medieval rituals and their material correlates some deal with rituals relating to death life cycles and the circulation in other contexts of objects otherwise used in the burial ritual others are concerned with the symbolism and ideology of royal power the formation of a political ideology east of the rhine from the mid 5th century onwards and penance rituals in relation to carolingian episcopal discourse on ecclesiastical power and morale all deal with the creation of new identities cultures norms and values and their expression in new rituals and ideas from the period of the great migrations through the later roman empire down to the society of beowulf and the later carolingians this book examines the political and social effects brought about by the establishment of columbanian monasteries in seventh century gaul this book first published in 1932 demonstrates how the control of certain isms has for long moulded the interpretation of indian belief and ritual by western writers particularly in every chapter there is some new coordination often iconoclastic of then accepted theory whilst the new wealth of customs carefully recorded is astonishing long disputed problems such as that of the maratha devak or that of the ceremonial sowing of seedlings known to western scholars as the gardens of adonis have at last been settled through careful research striking cultural developments took place in the twelfth century which led to what historians have termed the emergence of the individual the medieval fold demonstrates how cultural developments typically associated with this twelfth century renaissance autobiography lyric courtly love romance can be traced to the church s cultivation of individualism however subjects did not submit to pastoral power passively they constructed fantasies and behaviors redeploying or folding it to create new forms of life and culture incorporating the work of nietzsche foucault lacan and deleuze suzanne verderber presents a model of the subject in which the opposition between interior self and external world is dislodged the 19 papers presented in this volume by north american and european historians and archaeologists discuss how early medieval political and religious elites constructed places of power and how such places in turn created powerful people they also examine how the high level power exercised by elites was transformed in the post roman kingdoms of europe as roman cities gave way as central stages for rituals of power to a multitude of places and spaces where political and religious power were represented although the frankish kingdoms receive a large share of attention contributions also focus on the changing topography of power in the old centres of the roman world rome and constantinople to what centres of power may have meant in the steppes of inner asia scandinavia or the lower vistula where political power was even more mobile and decentralised than in the post roman kingdoms as well as to monasteries and their integration into early medieval topographies of power
