he delivered the lectures edited and reproduced here with their illustrations to overflowing crowds at the national gallery of art in washington in the spring of 2003 just months before his death with brilliance passion and humor varnedoe addresses the skeptical attitudes and misunderstandings that we often bring to our experience of abstract art resisting grand generalizations he makes a deliberate and scholarly case for abstraction showing us that more than just pure looking is necessary to understand the self made symbolic language of abstract art proceeding decade by decade he brings alive the history and biography that inform the art while also challenging the received wisdom about distinctions between abstraction and representation modernism and postmodernism and minimalism and pop many people are intrigued by the abstract work of artists like mondrian and jackson pollock yet find it difficult to explain why in this timely and original book briony fer introduces abstract painting and sculpture of the twentieth century and explores new ways to think about abstract art and the problems of interpretation it raises fer speculates on the kind of language required to describe the often tantalizing effects of key abstract works and on ways to discuss critical issues when a work of art is without subject matter drawing particularly on psychoanalytic theory and the writings of georges bataille she examines a wide range of models of abstraction ranging from the early european emphasis on the transcendental possibilities of pure form to later modernist frameworks developed in the united states each of the ten chapters in the book addresses a particular problem associated with abstract art by focusing closely on specific works produced by such artists as malevich mondrian kandinsky arp miró pollock eva hesse and donald judd fer investigates the involvement of women artists such as lyubov popova and the problems of sexual difference in the development of abstract art countering the idealizing rhetoric of modernist criticism on abstract art uncovers a latent corporeal and darker side to abstraction and deepens today's discussion of a variety of critical concerns in contemporary art this series introduces the major movements in late nineteenth and twentieth century art each book is illustrated with works from tate and other major collections around the world in a new approach to the subject the author rejects the view that the story of abstraction can be traced as a succession of stylistic trends each set within its particular art historical context he offers instead readings of specific paintings and sculptures by artists such as kasimir malevich naum gabo piet mondrian and jackson pollock treating them as exemplary of particular tendencies within the overlapping histories of abstraction abstract paintings are discussed here both from the point of view of their creators and from the point of view of the spectator then the kind of question repeatedly asked about abstraction is asked and answered by what standards can an abstract painting be judged does abstraction set out to disregard the public's expectations and wishes if so is it unique in this does the viewer contribute more to an appreciation of an abstract painting than to a more traditional work does any abstract painting have a message if so how does it express it is it necessary to know anything about the artist himself in order to fully appreciate his work does an abstract painting require more or less skill in its execution than a traditional work is there anything more to abstraction than novelty back cover this book explores the relation of abstract art to nature traditional picturing and sculpture are based on conventions of resemblance between the work and that which it is a representation of abstract works in contrast adopt alternative modes of visual representation or break down and reconfigure the mimetic conventions of pictorial art and sculpture obviously this means that abstract art takes many different forms however this diversity should not mask some key structural features these center on two basic relations to nature understanding nature in the broadest sense to comprise the world of recognisable objects creatures organisms processes and states of affairs the first involves abstracting from nature to give selected aspects of it a new and extremely unfamiliar appearance the second involves abstract art as the affirmation of a relatively unconstrained natural creativity that issues in new autonomous forms that are not constrained by mimetic conventions such creativity is often attributed to the power of the unconscious the book contains three categories of essays 1 those on classical modernism mondrian malevich kandinsky arp early american abstraction 2 those on post war abstraction pollock still newman smithson noguchi arte povera michaux postmodern developments and 3 those of a broader art historical and philosophical scope provided by publisher
