exploring the earth under the sea brings to life the world s largest and longest lived geological research program which has been drilling over many decades at many locations deep below the ocean floor to recover continuous cores of sediment and rock study of these materials has helped us understand how the earth works now how it has worked in the past and how it may work in the future the cores are a wonderful source of information on the dynamic processes that form and reform the earth both beneath the ocean and on land the results have revealed climate and oceanographic change on different time frames the history of life in the sea and on land including global mass extinctions the extraordinary story of the great masses of extremophile microbes that live beneath the sea bed the nature of the giant earthquakes and tsunami generated at the trenches where tectonic plates collide and the nature of submarine volcanoes and metalliferous deposits this book outlines the technology and enduring international partnerships that underlie the scientific ocean drilling accomplished by the first phase of iodp currently involving 23 countries it highlights the important role of australian and new zealand scientists in the program and the great scientific benefits we have derived from our partnership since joining iodp in 2008 as well as the scientific summaries there are personal accounts by shipboard scientists of how they found life at sea on two month expeditions working 12 hour shifts on a noisy drill ship law of the sea in east asia selects the most prominent maritime legal issues that have emerged since the post los convention era for a detailed discussion and assessment the current marine legal order in east asia is based on the 1982 united nations convention on the law of the sea los convention and accordingly coastal states in the region are obliged to cooperate amongst themselves to exercise their rights and perform their duties keyuan a respected expert in the fields of international and chinese law explores issues concerning compliance with the law of the sea territorial disputes and maritime boundary delimitation fishery management safety of navigation and maritime security and neglected issues in the law of the sea this is the first book to examine maritime laws in east asia and as such will appeal to academics of law and asian studies lawyers and policy makers the fact that the montego bay convention has been only ratified by 37 states at present and that it will be some time before the 60 ratifications required by article 308 are achieved has not prevented states from acting in accordance with the rules drawn up by the conference close on one hundred states have established either exclusive economic zones broadly modelled on part v or 200 nautical mile fishery zones and drawn on the principles laid down for exploiting living resources although these laws have been formulated unilaterally by states international custom since the judgement by the international court of justice in the fisheries case of 18 december 1951 is derived from concordant national rules this shift began even before the conference ended and has been consolidated since then moreover the régime governing the sea bed beyond the limits of national jurisdiction defined by part xi which was the stumbling block of the conference is subject to transitional arrangements on the basis of two resolutions adopted in the conferences final act one providing for the establishment of a preparatory commission and the other on the preliminary activities of pioneer investors this two volume work an earlier edition of which appeared in french has been written by a team of experts of international renown it presents an analysis of the convention with an additional chapter on the legal régime governing underwater archaeological and historical objects volume vi is the sixth substantive volume to be published in the series it deals with the work of the first committee at the third un conference on the law of the sea namely the international seabed area the volume thus embraces the deep seabed mining regime set out in part xi of the 1982 convention on the law of the sea together with the 1994 agreement on its implementation completion of this commentary was delayed first by the consultations and negotiations that commenced in 1990 and led to the 1994 agreement and the entry into force of the convention it was further delayed until the assembly of the international seabed authority approved the detailed mining regulations in 2000 additional supplementary material can be found at unclos 1982 commentary supplementary documents the deep sea exploits of secretive captain nemo embarking on the world s first global vendetta watersheds supplying crucial ecosystem services to humans seem to be a logical territorial unit to integrate societal benefits and environmental needs in order to evaluate the sustainability of natural resource use patterns based on this belief the book is an attempt to initiate a comprehensive environmental security assessment in the basin of the azov sea shared by russia and ukraine though the region provides a variety of essential services and plays a strategic role in national and international development plans it has been excluded from most regional environmental discussions at the same time there is an alarming degradation rate of basin freshwater ecosystems that has occurred due to overutilization of certain prioritized services e g transportation the collapse of neglected services e g fishery and freshwater supply poses serious threats to the national economies as well as the local population and to mitigate these threats priority in water management should be given to securing sustainability of the regional freshwater ecosystems in addition to the review of the current status of azov ecosystem services the authors analyze likely future availability and challenges the relevant experience derived from basin management of the black sea and other similar basins is also discussed unique contemporary restatement of the law of war at sea with explanation providing expert commentary
